Second quarter sales from the global office products and computer supplies distribution activities totalled EUR 1.4 billion. New business wins in the customer segments of international and global accounts cushioned the effect of continued headcount reductions and spending cuts by large corporations and government institutions. Corporate Express continues to be successful in helping customers to streamline their procurement processes, as demonstrated by the growing usage of our online ordering facilities. Internet sales in office supplies now amount to an annual run-rate of around EUR 1.6 billion, or 28% of the total sales of the global office products operations. We continue to streamline warehouse facilities and logistics systems.

Organic office supplies sales (i.e. excluding software) in North America were level with last year for the first time in nine quarters. Total organic sales decreased by 4% compared to the second quarter of last year.

Sales activities were particularly successful in the large and strategic account customer segments, despite the rise of unemployment figures in the USA. Higher office supplies sales were realised in the Western and Eastern regions, as well as in Canada. Software sales and earnings were lower than last year when they peaked owing to promotional activities by a major supplier. Software sales however increased compared to the first quarter of this year.

Added value as a percentage of sales for the office supplies business (i.e. excluding software) was at a level comparable to the first quarter of this year. Due to large lower margin contracts within the software business, the Division's overall added value as a percentage of sales decreased compared to the first quarter. The Division was successful in further lowering its working capital.

During the second quarter the Division reduced the number of employees by another 502 FTE's. This year to date the total reduction in headcount amounts to 828 FTE's.

Review Second Quarter

Second quarter sales of the combined Office Products Europe and Australia Divisions totalled EUR 358.1 million (2002: EUR 390.0 million). While sales weakened in the UK, Germany, and the Benelux the Office Products Europe Division managed to improve added value as a percentage of sales. Second quarter sales continued to increase in most other European countries as well as in Australia and New Zealand.

Despite the economic recession that is causing the market for office products to shrink in Europe, particularly in Germany, office supplies and copier sales of the German operations compared favourably to the market average. Corporate Express Benelux moved the core of its logistics activities to a new distribution centre in Almere, without this affecting its sales levels.

The uptake of Corporate Express Australia's single-source model continues to gain momentum as more customers recognize the value of consolidating their purchases via a one-supplier contract. Corporate Express Australia added two new specialist categories to its activities recently: business machines sales & service and wide format printing supplies.

Review First Half (separate numbers for Australia)

Sales of the Office Products Europe Division for the first half of 2003 totalled EUR 507.3 million (2002: EUR 578.1 million). Organic sales decreased by 10% in Europe. The Division's total operational costs were trimmed substantially. Operating result (EBITA) of the European office products operations totalled EUR 0.8 million for the first half of 2003 (2002: EUR 7.9 million).

Corporate Express Australia recorded 10% higher sales for the first six months of the year, totalling EUR 228.8 million compared to EUR 207.8 million for the first half of 2002. Operating costs increased as the business continues to grow. Operating result (EBITA) of Corporate Express Australia for the first half totalled EUR 19.4 million (2002: EUR 20.3 million).

By emphasising quality of service the Paper Merchants Division maintained its leading market position. The currently relatively low level of demand in the commercial print sector has contributed to a 6% drop in the division's total sales volume in the second quarter. Average paper prices were 2% lower than the comparable period of last year. The distribution network and logistics capabilities of Buhrmann's paper merchants contributed to a favourable development of stock sales versus indent sales in the second quarter, which has modestly benefited the Division's added value margin. Added value as percentage of sales increased to 16.1% in the second quarter of this year, compared to 15.6% a year ago. The Division's diligent approach with regard to margin management was demonstrated by the fact that some market share was sacrificed in Germany and France. The proportion of sales under the Division's group brand programmes for the commercial print market (comprising of the Hello, ON, and Core paper qualities) and the office and paper resellers market (Motif and IBM) was successfully increased. As customer loyalty strengthens, the branding programme allows the Division to consolidate its assortments, which contributes to lowering working capital requirements.

Total sales decreased by 7% to EUR 105 million compared to EUR 113 million in the second quarter of last year. As anticipated, the lower capacity utilisation in the graphic arts industry has caused a further reduction in new machine sales. In addition, the strengthening of the Euro makes it harder to compete against Japanese manufacturers of printing equipment. Order intake in the second quarter remained at a low level. Efforts to replace frequent incidental service calls by structured service contracts proved successful and the sale of services remained level with the second quarter of last year despite the reduction in new machine installations. It is expected that the Division's full year operating result (EBITA) will be around break-even.

HOLDINGS

Holding costs totalled EUR 5.5 million in second quarter of this year (2002: EUR 5.5 million). The one-time EUR 7.3 million gain from the sale of DocVision was recorded as exceptional operating income. On balance second quarter operating result (EBITA) reported under "Holdings" totalled EUR 1.8 million.

Accounting policies

Buhrmann's accounting policies did not change compared with the principles applied in the Group's financial statements for 2002, with the exception of:

Exceptional items In accordance with the new Guideline for Annual Reporting on extraordinary and exceptional items (270.4) applicable in the Netherlands, results that are not directly related to normal business operations in the period under review are treated as exceptional (comparable 2002 figures will be restated).

Revenue recognition (for equipment sales of the Graphic Systems Division) Following the release of the new Guideline for Annual Reporting on Revenue Recognition (270.2) from 2003 onwards the equipment sales are recorded at the time of installation, instead of at delivery.

It is noted that, as per 2002 financial statements, working capital as part of capital employed has been presented excluding cash, deposits, accruals for income tax and interest. This change has been implemented in the figures retrospectively. In addition, as per Annual Report 2002, organic growth rates exclude all factors that disturb a like-for-like comparison, such as: currency exchange rate movements, acquisitions, divestments, variations in the number of working days, the change- to a commission-based model at our ASAP Software subsidiary, and the change in the sales recognition of the Graphic Systems Division.

The figures included in this report were not audited by the external accountant.
