(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies and Practices

(a) Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the instructions to Form 10-QSB and do not include all of the information and disclosures required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for complete financial statements. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring accruals) considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included. These statements should be read in conjunction with the financial statements and notes thereto included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-KSB for the year ended December 31, 2001, as filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (File No. 333-66360). Because of its lack of operating history, the Company is considered to be in the development stage and the accompanying financial statements represent those of a development stage company.

(2) Stockholders' Equity

Common Stock

In connection with its Initial Public Offering, the Company issued 605,113 shares of its common stock at $0.75 per share. Net proceeds to the Company after offering costs were approximately $196,335 in the period ended March 31, 2002.

From January 2002 to March 2002, the Company issued 696,000 shares of its common stock in exchange for services performed by various consultants and recorded a charge of $418,125 in the period ended March 31, 2002, prepaid expenses of $84,375 for services to be performed and payment of accrued interest of $19,500.

From April 2002 to June 2002, the Company issued 250,000 shares of its common stock in exchange for services performed by various consultants and recorded a charge of $187,500 in the three months ended June 30, 2002.

From May 2002 to June 2002, the Company issued 98,773 shares of its common stock at $0.75 per share in connection with a private placement. Net proceeds to the Company were approximately $74,080 in the three months ended June 30, 2002.

(3) Uncertainties

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern. The Company is in the early stages of development and has not yet established sources of revenues sufficient to fund the development of business and pay current operating expenses. Management intends to provide the necessary development and operating capital through sales of its common stock and commencement of sales of its telecommunication services. The ability of the Company to continue as a going concern during the next year depends on the successful completion of the Company's efforts to raise capital and commence sales of its telecommunication services. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might be necessary if the Company is unable to continue as a going concern.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis or Plan of Operation.

Forward Looking Statements

From time to time, we include some forward looking statements that involve substantial risks and uncertainties and other factors which may cause our operational and financial activity and results to differ from those expressed or implied by these forward looking statements. In many cases, you can identify these statements by forward looking words such as may, will, expect, anticipate, believe, estimate, plan, intend, continue, or similar words. You should read statements that contain these words carefully because they discuss our future expectations, contain projections of our future results of operations or of our financial condition, or state other forward looking information.

You should not place undue reliance on these forward looking statements. The sections captioned Risk Factors and Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Plan of Operations, as well as any cautionary language, provide examples of risks, uncertainties and events that may cause our actual results to differ materially from the expectations.

Although we believe that the expectations reflected in the forward looking statements are reasonable, we cannot guarantee future results, levels of activity, performance or achievements.

In this Report, Company, OwnerTel, we, us, our, and ours refer to OwnerTel, Inc.

Plan of Operation

We are currently in the startup phase of our existence. We presently do have sufficient cash on hand to support our planned activities for the next year. We will transition from the startup phase of our existence to the operational phase of our existence when we have accumulated sufficient capital to do so.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

At June 30, 2002, OwnerTel had working capital of $44,261. We anticipate that we will have a working capital deficit throughout the startup phase of operations. OwnerTel expects to receive revenues from local and long distance and internet services provided to its own customers and from commissions under a certain marketing agreement with TransNet Connect, Inc. Our operating expenses consist primarily of costs of local and long distance and internet services, salaries and wages, commissions, payroll taxes, telephone expense, office expense and other miscellaneous expenses. Salaries and wages and the related payroll taxes for OwnerTel's two employees are estimated to be approximately $150,000 per year. OwnerTel's two employees have agreed to forego their salary until such time as we have raised $250,000. Commissions are paid to agents of OwnerTel only after the cash has been received for the services sold by the agents. The other expenses of OwnerTel are estimated to be less than $30,000 per year.

We raised net proceeds in our Initial Public Offering of approximately $236,000. Management expects these net proceeds, in addition to cash flow generated from operations, will be sufficient to pay all costs and expenses excluding salaries and wages and related payroll taxes through December 31, 2003. For the foreseeable future, most, if not all, of our operating expenses are believed to be variable expenses, which will increase or decrease in connection with our volume of business. These expenses include, but are not limited to, local and long distance telephone expense, office supplies and other miscellaneous expenses. We believe that our revenues less the costs of our revenues and commissions payable will be sufficient to cover our variable expenses. However, there can be no assurance that our revenue less the cost of our revenue and commissions payable will be sufficient to cover these variable expenses.

Inflation

Management does not believe that inflation will have a material effect on operating results. Although increases in long distance and telecommunication services and other operating costs could adversely affect our operations, we believe that we will be able to modify our operating procedures or increase prices to offset increases in our operating costs.
