Economic review

Economic activity in the U.S. was mixed during the twelve months ended May 31, 2018 (the reporting period). Looking back, the U.S. Department of Commerce reported that U.S. gross domestic product (GDP) growth was 3.1% and 3.2% during the second and third quarters of 2017, respectively. GDP growth then moderated to 2.9% for the fourth quarter of the year. Finally, the U.S. Department of Commerce's final reading for first quarter 2018 GDP growth released after the reporting period ended was 2.0%. More modest GDP growth in the first quarter reflected decelerations in personal consumption expenditures (PCE), exports, state and local government spending, and federal government spending and a downturn in residential fixed investment. These movements were partly offset by a smaller decrease in private inventory investment and a larger increase in nonresidential fixed investment.

Job growth in the U.S. was solid overall and supported the economy during the reporting period. When the reporting period ended on May 31, 2018, the unemployment rate was 3.8%, as reported by the U.S. Department of Labor. This was the lowest unemployment rate since April 2000. The percentage of longer-term unemployed declined during the reporting period. In May 2018, 19.4% of Americans looking for a job had been out of work for more than six months, versus 24.3% when the period began.

Turning to the global economy, in its April 2018 World Economic Outlook Update, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) said, "World growth strengthened in 2017 to 3.8 percent, with a notable rebound in global trade. It was driven by an investment recovery in advanced economies, continued strong growth in emerging Asia, a notable upswing in emerging Europe, and signs of recovery in several commodity exporters. Global growth is expected to tick up to 3.9 percent this year and next, supported by strong momentum, favorable market sentiment, accommodative financial conditions, and the domestic and international repercussions of expansionary fiscal policy in the United States. From a regional perspective, the IMF projects 2018 growth in the Eurozone will be 2.4%, versus 2.3% in 2017. Japan's economy is expected to expand 1.2% in 2018, compared to 1.7% in 2017. Elsewhere, the IMF projects that overall growth in emerging market countries will accelerate to 4.9% in 2018, versus 4.8% in 2017."

The Federal Reserve Board (the Fed) raised interest rates, as represented by the federal funds rate<sup>iv</sup>, three times during the reporting period. The first occurrence took place on June 14, 2017, as the Fed raised rates to a range between 1.00% and 1.25%. During its meeting that concluded on September 20, 2017, the Fed kept rates on hold, but reiterated its intention to begin reducing its balance sheet, saying, "In October, the Committee will initiate the balance sheet normalization program." At its meeting that ended on December 13, 2017, the Fed raised rates to a range between 1.25% and 1.50%. As expected, the Fed kept rates on hold at its meeting that concluded on January 31, 2018. However, at its meeting that ended on March 21, 2018, the Fed again raised the federal funds rate, moving it to a range between 1.50% and 1.75%. Finally, at its meeting that concluded on June 13, 2018 after the reporting period ended the Fed raised the federal funds rate to a range between 1.75% and 2.00%.

Investment commentary (cont'd)

Central banks outside the U.S. largely maintained their accommodative monetary policy stances during the reporting period. Looking back, in December 2016, the European Central Bank ( ECB ) extended its bond buying program until December 2017. From April 2017 through December 2017, the ECB purchased 60 billion-per-month of bonds. In October 2017, the ECB announced that it would continue to buy bonds through September 2018, but after December 2017 it would pare its purchases to 30 billion-per-month. In June 2018, after the reporting period ended, the ECB announced it would end its bond buying program by the end of the year, but it did not anticipate raising interest rates at least through the summer of 2019. In other developed countries, on November 2, 2017, the Bank of England raised rates from 0.25% to 0.50% the first increase since July 2007. After holding rates steady at 0.10% for more than five years, in January 2016, the Bank of Japan<sup>vii</sup> announced that it cut the rate on current accounts that commercial banks hold with it to -0.10% and kept rates on hold during the reporting period. Elsewhere, the People's Bank of China<sup>iii</sup> kept rates steady at 4.35% during the reporting period.

As always, thank you for your confidence in our stewardship of your assets.

Sincerely,

Jane Trust, CFA

Fund overview

Q. What is the Fund's investment strategy?

A. The Fund's primary investment objective is high current income and its secondary objective is total return. Under normal market conditions, the Fund invests in a global portfolio of securities consisting of below investment grade fixed-income securities, emerging market fixed-income securities and investment grade fixed-income securities. We have broad discretion to allocate the Fund's assets among the following segments of the global market for below investment and investment grade fixed income securities: corporate bonds, loans, preferred stock, mortgage- and asset-backed securities and sovereign debt, and derivative instruments of the foregoing securities. The Fund may use a variety of derivative instruments, such as options, futures contracts, swap agreements and credit default swaps, as part of its investment strategies or for hedging or risk management purposes.

At Western Asset Management Company, LLC (formerly known as Western Asset Management Company) (Western Asset), the Fund's subadviser, we utilize a fixed-income team approach, with decisions derived from interaction among various investment management sector specialists. The sector teams are comprised of Western Asset's senior portfolio management personnel, research analysts and an in-house economist. Under this team approach, management of client fixed-income portfolios will reflect a consensus of interdisciplinary views within the Western Asset organization. The individuals responsible for development of investment strategy, day-to-day portfolio management, oversight and coordination of the Fund are S. Kenneth Leech, Michael C. Buchanan, Chia-Liang (CL) Lian, Ryan K. Brist and Christopher F. Kilpatrick.

Q. What were the overall market conditions during the Fund's reporting period?

A. The overall fixed income market generated weak results over the twelve-month reporting period ended May 31, 2018. The spread sectors (non-Treasuries) experienced periods of volatility as they were impacted by a number of factors, including three interest rate hikes by the Federal Reserve Board (the Fed), mixed outlooks for inflation, the signing of the U.S. tax reform bill and several geopolitical issues.

Both short- and long-term Treasury yields moved higher during the reporting period. The two-year Treasury note began the reporting period at 1.28% equaling its low for the reporting period and ended the period at 2.40%. The high for the period of 2.59% occurred on May 22, 2018. The ten-year Treasury began the reporting period at 2.21% and ended the period at 2.83%. The low for the period of 2.05% occurred on September 7, 2017 and the peak of 3.11% took place on May 17, 2018.

The lower-rated credit market generated positive results during the twelve months ended May 31, 2018. The market was supported by corporate profits that often-exceeded expectations and overall solid investor demand. As is often the case in a rising interest rate environment, the credit market outperformed equal-duration<sup>ii</sup> Treasuries. This occurred as the global economy continued to expand, resulting in better earnings results and relatively low defaults.

All told, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Index<sup>iii</sup>, returned -0.37% for the twelve months ended May 31, 2018.

Comparatively, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Corporate High Yield 2% Issuer Cap Index gained 2.35%. During this period, as measured by this high yield index, lower-quality CCC-rated bonds significantly outperformed higher-quality BB-rated securities, returning 5.06% and 2.41%, respectively. Elsewhere, emerging market debt, as measured by the JPMorgan Emerging Markets Bond Index Global (EMBI Global), returned -1.71% for the twelve months ended May 31, 2018.

Q. How did we respond to these changing market conditions?

A. A number of adjustments were made to the Fund's portfolio during the reporting period. We increased the overall quality of the portfolio by decreasing its allocation to lower rated CCC securities. Meanwhile, we increased the Fund's exposure to securities rated BB and BBB. Our strategy to reduce the Fund's risk exposure was not driven by a concern that the current credit cycle was turning negative, but rather that valuations have compressed to the point where, in our view, maintaining an elevated level of risk was unwarranted. From a sector perspective, we reduced the Fund's overall exposure to the Consumer Non-Cyclicals sector. Within the sector, we pared the Fund's allocation to the food & beverage industry, while adding to the Fund's pharmaceuticals position. We also reduced the Fund's exposure to the Basic Industry sector by paring the Fund's allocation to the metals & mining industry. Conversely, we increased the Fund's position in the Communications sector by adding to its positions in cable/satellite, wireless and wirelines.

In 2017, we increased the Fund's exposure to floating rate senior secured term loans to take advantage of the potential increase in short-term interest rates, as well as to offset the increase in the Fund's borrowing costs. From a regional perspective, we increased the Fund's allocations to emerging markets. We believed emerging markets would perform well as developing market growth had increased and commodities continued to stabilize and move higher. It is worth noting, however that this increase in exposure was not rewarded as volatility picked up during the latter part of the reporting period. Negatively impacting emerging markets were concerns surrounding a stronger U.S. dollar, trade wars and China's growth rate.

The Fund employed U.S. Treasury futures to manage its yield curve<sup>vi</sup> positioning and duration. All told, they contributed to performance during the reporting period. Currency forwards, futures and options, which were utilized to hedge the Fund's currency exposure, were also positive for results.

During the reporting period, we tactically utilized leverage in the Fund. We ended the period with liabilities as a percentage of gross assets of approximately 25%, which was roughly 1% higher than at the beginning of the period. The use of leverage was positive for performance during the reporting period.

Table of Contents

Lastly, between February 2018 and the end of the reporting period, we opportunistically purchased shares of the Fund in the open market during periods of heightened volatility.

Performance review

For the twelve months ended May 31, 2018, Western Asset Global High Income Fund Inc. returned 0.29% based on its net asset value ( NAV<sup>ii</sup>) and -2.99% based on its New York Stock Exchange ( NYSE ) market price per share. The Fund's unmanaged benchmarks, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Index, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Corporate High Yield 2% Issuer Cap Index and the EMBI Global, returned -0.37%, 2.35% and -1.71%, respectively, for the same period. The Lipper High Yield (Leveraged) Closed-End Funds Category Average<sup>viii</sup> returned 3.31% over the same time frame. Please note that Lipper performance returns are based on each fund's NAV.

During the twelve-month period, the Fund made distributions to shareholders totaling $0.78 per share*. The performance table shows the Fund's twelve-month total return based on its NAV and market price as of May 31, 2018. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Performance Snapshot as of May 31, 2018

Total return assumes the reinvestment of all distributions, including returns of capital, at NAV.

Total return assumes the reinvestment of all distributions, including returns of capital, in additional shares in accordance with the Fund's Dividend Reinvestment Plan.

Q. What were the leading contributors to performance?

A. The largest contributor to the Fund's absolute performance during the reporting period was its quality biases. In particular, an overweight to securities rated CCC and an underweight to securities rated BB were rewarded, as lower quality bonds outperformed their higher quality counterparts.

An overweight to the Energy sector was additive for results, as it was one of the top performing sectors. The sector was buoyed by rising oil prices, as West Texas Intermediate ( WTI ) crude oil rose approximately 30% during the reporting period. In particular, the Fund's overweight positions in Petrobras Global Finance BV, Meg Energy Corp., Oasis Petroleum Inc., Continental Energy, Chesapeake Energy Corp. and Berry Petroleum Co. were positive for performance. An overweight to the metals & mining industry was rewarded. The industry rose on the back of improving global growth and rising commodity prices. These factors helped the Fund's overweight positions in Vale Overseas Ltd. and Freeport-McMoRan Inc. outperform during the reporting period.

Other contributors to results included the Fund's overweight to bank loans, as interest rates moved higher during the reporting period. In addition, overweights to Bossier Casinos Venture Holdco Inc., Valeant Pharmaceuticals International Inc. and Poland sovereign bonds were additive to results. Bossier Casinos posted solid fundamental performance, and we believe the company received multiple bids from suitors during the reporting period. Valeant Pharmaceuticals International continued to execute on its plan to sell assets, reduce debt and stabilize its fundamental performance, all of which helped send its bonds higher. The Fund effectively traded investment-grade rated Poland sovereign bonds during the reporting period. The country continued to post consistent positive gross domestic product (GDP) growth. We moved Poland from an overweight to an underweight position in the Fund during the reporting period, which benefited results.

Q. What were the leading detractors from performance?

A. The largest detractor from the Fund's relative performance during the reporting period was a handful of specific securities that underperformed the market. Examples include Dish Communications, PetSmart Inc, Intesa Sanpaolo and Sanchez Energy Corp. Satellite television provider Dish Communications underperformed on longer-term secular concerns and mergers and acquisitions (M&A) uncertainty. We increased the Fund's overweight on significantly better valuations and feel the market is missing some key factors that could impact the company. Pet servicer and retailer PetSmart, Inc. is in the process of transforming its business after the acquisition of online pet retailer Chewy.com, and the company is experiencing higher customer acquisition costs to grow its online presence. While PetSmart's leverage remains high, it maintains adequate liquidity and recent fundamental results are encouraging. Italian banks, including Intesa Sanpaolo, came under pressure as geopolitical concerns occurred during the end of the reporting period. Eagle Ford oil and gas producer Sanchez Energy Corp. used debt to acquire additional acreage through a joint venture, further complicating their corporate structure. While we purchased most of the Fund's Sanchez Energy Corp. bonds at attractive levels during the commodity crisis, they gave back some of their gains and moved lower during the reporting period. We maintained an overweight to all of these issuers with the exception of Sanchez Energy. We moved to an underweight on Sanchez Energy Corp. during the reporting period.

An overweight to emerging markets debt detracted from results as the asset underperformed developed market high-yield bonds during the reporting period. We felt positive global growth momentum and commodity stabilization would benefit the Fund's emerging markets positioning. One example of a detractor from results was the Fund's Argentina U.S. dollar-denominated and local debt positions. These were negatively impacted by a crisis of confidence around Argentina's economic policymaking and mixed signals from the country's central bank. The Argentinian peso depreciated, sending Argentina's and several other emerging markets countries' sovereign and corporate bonds lower. We ended the period with an overweight to emerging markets.

From a sector prospective, an overweight to the Communications sector detracted from results. This sector was very volatile due to several concerns, including M&A uncertainty and secular trends. Examples of overweight positions that were not rewarded included the previously mentioned Dish Communications.

RISKS: The Fund is a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company designed primarily as a long-term investment and not as a trading vehicle. The Fund is not intended to be a complete investment program and, due to the uncertainty inherent in all investments, there can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective. The Fund's common stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Similar to stocks, the Fund's share price will fluctuate with market conditions and, at the time of sale, may be worth more or less than the original investment. Shares of closed-end funds often trade at a discount to their net asset value. Because the Fund is non-diversified, it may be more susceptible to economic, political or regulatory events than a diversified fund. The Fund's investments are subject to a number of risks, including credit risk, inflation risk, call risk and interest rate risk. An investment in the Fund is subject to investment risk, including the possible loss of the entire principal amount that you invest. As interest rates rise, bond prices fall, reducing the value of the Fund's holdings. The Fund may use derivatives, such as options, futures contracts, swap agreements and credit default swaps, which can be illiquid, may disproportionately increase losses and have a potentially large impact on Fund performance. Investing in foreign securities is subject to certain risks not associated with domestic investing, such as currency fluctuations, and changes in political, regulatory and economic conditions. These risks are magnified in emerging or developing markets. High yield bonds, also known as junk bonds, involve greater credit risk (risk of default) and liquidity risk than investment grade bonds. Leverage may result in greater volatility of NAV and the market price of common shares and increases a shareholder's risk of loss.*

Portfolio holdings and breakdowns are as of May 31, 2018 and are subject to change and may not be representative of the portfolio managers current or future investments. Please refer to pages 10 through 32 for a list and percentage breakdown of the Fund's holdings.
