Item 8.01 Other Events.

Stanley Black & Decker, Inc. ("the Company") has reached a settlement with the Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA") for reimbursement of EPA's past costs and remediation of environmental contamination found at the Centredale Manor Restoration Project Superfund ("Centredale") site located in North Providence, Rhode Island. The EPA had alleged that Black & Decker and certain of its current and former affiliates are liable for site clean-up costs under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act as successors to the liability of Metro-Atlantic, Inc., a former operator at the site, and demanded reimbursement of the EPA's costs related to this site. Black & Decker and certain of its current and former affiliates contested the EPA's allegation that they are responsible for the contamination, and have asserted contribution claims, counterclaims and cross-claims against a number of other potentially responsible parties ("PRPs"), including the federal government as well as insurance carriers. Although the settlement with the EPA resolves EPA's claims against the Company, the litigation against other PRPs to recover costs associated with this clean-up continues. The Company has increased its reserve for this site by $78 million to approximately $146 million, reflective of the settlement reached. The $78 million increase will be reflected in the Company's second quarter 2018 GAAP financial results.
