Item 2.05

Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities

Worthington Industries, Inc. (the "Company") announced on June 21, 2013 a plan to consolidate its BernzOmatic hand torch manufacturing operation in Medina, New York into its existing facility in Chilton, Wisconsin. The consolidation is expected to reduce internal freight expense and maximize available capacity at the Chilton facility where the Company already manufactures BernzOmatic hand torch fuel cylinders. The closure of the Medina operation is expected to be complete by mid-2014 to ensure an orderly transition.

The Company estimates that the consolidation and closure of the Medina operations will result in one-time restructuring charges in the range of $4.0 million to $5.0 million, primarily due to severance costs, costs to relocate and install equipment, employee relations and training costs, and miscellaneous start-up costs. Most of these costs are expected to result in future cash payments. Approximately $2.5 million of these charges related to expected severance costs, are being accrued in the Company's fourth quarter ended May 31, 2013.

This Current Report on Form 8-K contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 (the "Act"). Statements by the Company, related to expected completion of the consolidation; savings and restructuring charges; capacity utilization; future earnings; and other statements which are not historical information, constitute "forward looking statements" within the meaning of the Act. All forward-looking statements are subject to risks and uncertainties which could cause actual results to differ from those projected. Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially include risks described from time to time in the Company's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. For information about the factors that could cause such differences, please refer to the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended May 31, 2012.
