Item 8.01 Other Events

On November 23, 2004, Medarex and MedImmune, Inc. announced a collaboration to develop antibodies targeting interferon-alpha and the type I interferon receptor 1. The collaboration will initially focus on two fully human antibodies, MDX-1103 and MDX-1333, that are currently in preclinical development by Medarex for the treatment of autoimmune diseases, such as systemic lupus erythematosus (SLE or lupus). The companies expect to file investigational new drug applications on these two antibodies with the U.S. Food & Drug Administration within the next 18 months.

Under the terms of the agreement, Medarex will receive an upfront payment of $15 million and potential milestone payments for products the collaboration puts into clinical development. MedImmune will be fully responsible for all development costs up to the point of initiating pivotal trials of any product candidates. At that point, Medarex has a choice for each potential product. Medarex can elect to enter into a profit sharing arrangement in the United States. If Medarex chooses profit sharing, Medarex will pay its proportionate share of the future development costs and reimburse MedImmune for a proportionate share of MedImmune's previous development costs plus interest. If Medarex elects to enter into the profit sharing arrangement for a given product, it will also have the option to enter into a co-promotion relationship with MedImmune in the United States for such product.

In the alternative, Medarex can elect not to commit any further funding for the product candidates, and MedImmune will be fully responsible for all costs of development and commercialization. In that case, Medarex will be entitled to milestone payments and substantial royalties on any sales in the United States.

Regardless of what Medarex elects to do with respect to the United States, in the rest of the world Medarex is entitled to milestone payments and substantial royalties on any product sales.

A copy of the press release dated November 23, 2004 relating to this collaboration is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1.
