ASX Announcement

Melbourne, Monday 24 October 2005

Final adjustments for sale of Irish banks

National Australia Bank today announced, that following final adjustments made to the sale completion accounts, the net profit on sale of the Northern Bank and National Irish Bank was $1,043 million compared to the initial estimate of $1,073 million.

The sale completion process also identified the need for an adjustment to previously reported net interest margins and net interest spreads for the NAB's United Kingdom banks.

The adjustments have no effect on previously reported Group profit or margins.

The adjustments are required to correctly record the inter-company balances between the United Kingdom and Irish banks, and affect net interest margins and net interest spreads reported for the United Kingdom in the 2005 March half year and prior periods commencing September 2003.

For the March 2005 half year the reported net interest margin for the United Kingdom ongoing operations (ie excluding the Irish banks) reduces from 4.00% to 3.91% and the net interest spread falls from 3.66% to 3.53%. There is a similar movement in interest margins and spreads reported since September 2003.

The full details of changes to the United Kingdom net interest margins and spreads at the 2005 March half year are attached. The adjustments will also be incorporated in the Group's 2005 full year results to be announced on 9 November.
