ARCADIS INCREASES PROFIT OUTLOOK FOR 2005

Net income in the third quarter increases 36%; net income from operations increases 46%

Gross revenue grows 7% of which 5% is organic

Growth particularly strong in the United States environmental market and in Brazil

Considerable margin improvement

Expected increase in net income from operations for the full year 2005: 30 to 35%

ARNHEM, The Netherlands, November 9, 2005 ARCADIS (Nasdaq: ARCAF; Euronext: ARCAD), the international consulting and engineering company, today reported that it has had an excellent third quarter 2005. Gross revenue increased 7% to 236 million, while net income was 36% higher at 6.3 million. Net income from operations (excluding amortization and non-recurring effects in the third quarter of 2004) rose by 46%. At 8.0%, the operational margin was at the level of the stated financial goals of the firm, compared to 5.7% in the third quarter of 2004.

In the first nine months of 2005 gross revenue grew 6%. Net income rose by 41% and net income from operations grew by 31%.

The favorable development is the result of organic growth of activities, combined with a considerable improvement of margins. As a result of the sale of less profitable businesses and expansion with companies with good margins, acquisitions also contributed strongly to the profitability increase.

At the end of the third quarter, Blasland, Bouck & Lee, Inc. (BBL) was acquired in the U.S. BBL fully specializes in environmental and soil remediation services, and has more than 900 employees, spread across 42 offices in the United States. Expected gross revenues for BBL in 2005 amounts to approximately 142 million. Of that amount some 80% is generated from private sector clients, among which are a considerable number of multinationals from the Fortune 100. The company is consolidated in the balance sheet per September 30, 2005 and contributes to results starting in the fourth quarter of 2005.

In a reaction to the results, ARCADIS CEO Harrie Noy said: Our strategy aimed at margin improvement is clearly yielding results. The continuous attention of our employees for efficiency and the replacement of less profitable businesses with activities yielding higher added value, allow us to show stronger results. Organic growth is at a good level, and we are performing particularly well in the environmental market. Together with BBL we have now entered the global top 5 in this market and have a market leadership position in environmental services for private sector clients. Clients and employees have reacted with enthusiasm to the merger with BBL, especially because of the opportunities it offers to expand services to multinational companies.

Analysis

Edgar Filing: ARCADIS N V - Form 6-K

As of 2005 ARCADIS reports according to IFRS (International Financial Reporting Standards). Comparable figures for 2004 have been adjusted accordingly.

Third quarter

Gross revenue increased 7%. Taking into account a book profit in the third quarter of 2004, recurring gross revenue increased 9%. Of this increase 2% was the result of the sum of acquisitions and divestments. For the first time in a long while the currency effect was positive at 2%, as a result of the strengthening of the Brazilian real, while the U.S. dollar was neutral versus a year ago. Organic growth was 5% mainly from the United States and Brazil. In Europe, Poland saw strong growth, while France and Belgium also showed healthy gains. In the Netherlands, revenues declined slightly, but the profitability improvement continued. Due to the completion of a number of large projects, revenues in Germany declined.

The strong increase in Ebita was partially caused by non-recurring items in 2004, when restructuring costs and the sale of participations negatively affected Ebita by 3.1 million. Excluding these effects Ebita rose 49%. Acquisitions and divestments on balance contributed 20%, while the currency effect was 6% positive. Activity growth and margin improvement across a broad cross section of the Company contributed 23% to Ebita growth.

Net income from operations rose 46% and was somewhat behind the increase of recurring Ebita. This is the result of a lower contribution from non-consolidated companies and an increase in minority interest caused by the strong profitability increase in Brazil, where ARCADIS has a 50.01% share.

First nine months

Gross revenue rose 6%, recurring gross revenue (excluding the effect of book profits) rose 7%. Of this increase, 6% was organic growth. Acquisitions and divestments on balance yielded 1% growth. Currencies had no effect.

Ebita increased by 68%. Excluding the effect of a book profit of 2.1 million in the second quarter of 2005 and negative non-recurring effects of on balance 4.5 million as a result of book gains and restructurings in 2004, the recurring Ebita increase was 33%. The contribution from acquisitions and divestments was 13%; the currency effect 1%. Organically, Ebita increased 19%, through growth and margin improvement. The margin (recurring Ebita as a percentage of net revenue) rose to 7.4% compared to 5.8% in the same period last year.

Balance sheet and cash flow statement

Balance sheet total increased from 433 million at year-end 2004 to 627 million at the end of the third quarter 2005. The cash flow from operating activities in the first nine months was significantly higher than last year. The increase in balance sheet total is mainly the result of acquisitions. The Company is looking into ways to optimize its financing structure to lower the balance sheet total and limit interest expenses. It is expected that the balance sheet total will be lower at year-end 2005.

Developments per market segment

The figures mentioned below relate to gross revenue developments and, unless otherwise noted, discuss comparisons between the first nine months of 2005 and of 2004.

Infrastructure

Gross revenue grew 8%, of which 4% came through acquisitions and 1% through currency effects. Organic growth was 3% mainly from Brazil, the United States and France. In Brazil strong raw materials demand led to high private investments, while the government is also stepping up investment. Growth in America was mainly driven by the housing market, which is now seeing some slowing. In Europe, developments in France, Belgium and Poland are positive. In the Netherlands work was won on the Zuid-as project, a prestigious project in Amsterdam intended to strengthen city's structure.

Environment

The 11% growth was fully organic. The contribution of 2% from acquisitions was offset by a negative currency effect of the same size. The most important contribution to growth came from the United States, where both the GRiP® projects as well as traditional activities exhibited strong growth. In Poland, Brazil and Chile growth was mainly achieved in services for private sector companies. Germany and Belgium also saw revenue increases.

Facilities

Gross revenue rose 5%. The acquisition of AYH, which closed in mid-June, contributed strongly to growth and almost entirely offset the effects of earlier divestments on revenues. Organic growth declined to 6%. This was caused by a decline of revenues in the third quarter, mainly by shifts in subcontracting. Net revenue in the quarter increased organically by more than 10%. In the Netherlands, ARCADIS AQUMEN signed the final facility management contract with DSM and Sabic shortly after the quarter.

Outlook

Analysis

Edgar Filing: ARCADIS N V - Form 6-K

The Dutch market is gradually recovering. The number of public private partnership initiatives for infrastructure is increasing, more money is being invested in rail improvement and the municipal market is improving. In Central Europe infrastructure expansion is a main priority. In Poland this recently led to several large assignments for the design of ring roads near Warsaw and Wroclaw. In the United States, approval of the federal budget for transportation infrastructure has a positive effect on market conditions. In Brazil the market is favourable as a result of a high level of investment activity. The acquisition of BBL offers ample opportunity to realize further growth in the environmental market through synergies. In the facilities segment, growth opportunities exist in the expansion of project management services for international clients and in the expansion of facility management activities.

CEO Noy concluded: ARCADIS is on track in terms of achieving its strategic objectives. Our policy to create growth through synergy is taking hold and margins have improved considerably. Through acquisitions and divestments the emphasis has shifted to activities with higher added value and more growth prospects. Barring unforeseen circumstances we expect an increase in net income from operations for full year 2005 of 30% to 35%.

ARCADIS is an international company providing consultancy, engineering and management services in infrastructure, environment and facilities, to enhance mobility, sustainability and quality of life.
