WHAT'S NEXT

In the coming weeks, the integration team leads for each area will continue to work with their accountable SMT member to determine the right post-close structure and cost for each business and function. The team leads will engage sub-teams as needed to complete this work and to prepare for a seamless Day One. As stated in the news release, we expect the transaction to close in late first quarter or early second quarter of 2016. However, it's possible it could close sooner than that, so the teams are working aggressively to be ready for that possibility.

IMPORTANT REMINDER

Remember that until the transaction closes, we are still separate companies. While integration planning work will be underway, the actual integration will not occur until after the transaction closes. Any interaction you have with Plum Creek employees as part of your role should be treated no differently than with any other competitor. Conversations with Plum Creek employees outside the normal course of business must be cleared by our Legal department. If you have questions related to the integration, please email them here. We are limited in what we can share during this transition period, but will try to address common concerns and questions in future integration-update articles.
