Media Release

Credit Suisse announces settlement with SEC related to mortgage business

Zurich, November 16, 2012 Credit Suisse announces that it has reached a settlement with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) that resolves investigations relating to residential mortgage-backed securities (“RMBS”) transactions. In a settled administrative proceeding filed today, the SEC charged Credit Suisse with engaging in negligent conduct but not in any intentional or reckless wrongdoing. Credit Suisse neither admits nor denies the SEC’s allegations. As part of the settlement, Credit Suisse has agreed to pay USD 120 million which was recorded in the third quarter of 2012 as a litigation provision.

Today’s announcement resolves an investigation relating to Credit Suisse’s settlement of claims against mortgage originators involving loans that had been included in a number of Credit Suisse securitizations. It also resolves an investigation relating to Credit Suisse’s obligations to demand repurchase by mortgage originators with respect to certain delinquent loans in two 2006 securitizations.

The SEC has advised that its investigation relating to Credit Suisse’s due diligence and corresponding disclosures on historic RMBS transactions will not be pursued.

Credit Suisse is committed to the highest standards of integrity and regulatory compliance in all its businesses. Credit Suisse is pleased that it was able to resolve these investigations with the SEC.

Cautionary statement regarding forward-looking information

This press release contains statements that constitute forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. In addition, in the future we, and others on our behalf, may make statements that constitute forward-looking statements. Such forward-looking statements may include, without limitation, statements relating to the following:

- our plans, objectives or goals;
 - our future economic performance or prospects;
 - the potential effect on our future performance of certain contingencies; and
 - assumptions underlying any such statements.

Words such as “believes,” “anticipates,” “expects,” “intends” and “plans” and similar expressions are intended to identify forward-looking statements but are not the exclusive means of identifying such statements. We do not intend to update these forward-looking statements except as may be required by applicable securities laws. By their very nature, forward-looking statements involve inherent risks and uncertainties, both general and specific, and risks exist that predictions, forecasts, projections and other outcomes described or implied in forward-looking statements will not be achieved. We caution you that a number of important factors could cause results to differ materially from the plans, objectives, expectations, estimates and intentions expressed in such forward-looking statements. These factors include:

- the ability to maintain sufficient liquidity and access capital markets;
 - market and interest rate fluctuations and interest rate levels;
- the strength of the global economy in general and the strength of the economies of the countries in which we conduct our operations, in particular the risk of continued slow economic recovery or downturn in the US or other developed countries in 2012 and beyond;
- the direct and indirect impacts of continuing deterioration or slow recovery in residential and commercial real estate markets;
- adverse rating actions by credit rating agencies in respect of sovereign issuers, structured credit products or other credit-related exposures;
- the ability to achieve our strategic objectives, including improved performance, reduced risks, lower costs, and more efficient use of capital;
 - the ability of counterparties to meet their obligations to us;
 - the effects of, and changes in, fiscal, monetary, trade and tax policies, and currency fluctuations;
 - political and social developments, including war, civil unrest or terrorist activity;
- the possibility of foreign exchange controls, expropriation, nationalization or confiscation of assets in countries in which we conduct our operations;
 - operational factors such as systems failure, human error, or the failure to implement procedures properly;
- actions taken by regulators with respect to our business and practices in one or more of the countries in which we conduct our operations;
 - the effects of changes in laws, regulations or accounting policies or practices;
 - competition in geographic and business areas in which we conduct our operations;
 - the ability to retain and recruit qualified personnel;
 - the ability to maintain our reputation and promote our brand;
 - the ability to increase market share and control expenses;
 - technological changes;
- the timely development and acceptance of our new products and services and the perceived overall value of these products and services by users;
- acquisitions, including the ability to integrate acquired businesses successfully, and divestitures, including the ability to sell non-core assets;
 - the adverse resolution of litigation and other contingencies;
 - the ability to achieve our cost efficiency goals and cost targets; and
 - our success at managing the risks involved in the foregoing.

We caution you that the foregoing list of important factors is not exclusive. When evaluating forward-looking statements, you should carefully consider the foregoing factors and other uncertainties and events, as well as the information set forth in our Annual Report 2011 under “Risk factors” in the Appendix.
