companies (80% Policy). The sub-advisor uses the bottom up approach, seeking to select securities of companies, the sub-advisor believes have attractive end market potential, dominant business models, securities, warrants, preferred stocks, and strong cash flow generation that are attractively priced compared to intrinsic value of the securities. The basis, borrow money from banks as a company's operational efficiencies, temporary measure for extraordinary management's plans for capital allocation, and the company's shareholder orientation. These factors give the sub-advisor insight into the outlook for a company, helping to identify companies poised for free cash flow growth. The sub-advisor believes that sustainable free cash flow growth, if it occurs, may result in price appreciation for the company's stock. The Fund generally holds 25 to 30 stocks, although from time to time it may hold fewer or more names, depending upon the Sub-Advisor's assessment of the investment opportunities available. In addition, the Sub-Advisor maintains a diversified portfolio representing a number of different industries. Such an approach helps to minimize the impact that any one security or industry could have on the Fund if it were to experience a period of slow or declining growth.
