SECTION 7 - REGULATION FD

Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

ALLETE, Inc. (ALLETE) expects to earn between $2.45 and $2.65 per share on net income of $92 million to $100 million in 2012.

Significant assumptions impacting ALLETE's 2012 earnings guidance include:

An increase in current cost recovery revenue and renewable tax credits related to the Bison 1, 2, and 3 wind generation projects and Minnesota Power's participation in three CapX2020 transmission projects. Total capital expenditures for 2012 are expected to be $441 million, of which $304 million qualifies for current cost recovery treatment.

The expectation of continued strong electricity usage by Minnesota Power's current industrial customers as in 2011. On December 1, 2011, Minnesota Power received demand nominations from its taconite customers that indicate they intend to operate at 100 percent of their full demand levels for the first four months of 2012. Additionally, the company expects its other industrial customers to operate at high production levels in 2012.

Higher pension and other post-retirement benefit expenses than in 2011. The discount rate used in the formula to calculate these expenses is expected to be near a historic low, resulting in a year-over-year increase.

Higher depreciation and interest expenses resulting from recent capital additions.

Similar production and earnings from BNI Coal, and a similar net loss at ALLETE Properties.

Future large industrial expansions continue to progress towards start up in 2012 as well. Essar Steel Minnesota, LLC and Magnetation, Inc., are examples of new load additions associated with iron ore mining and processing in our service area. Future load growth opportunities in non-ferrous mining are being pursued as well.

Readers are cautioned that forward-looking statements should be read in conjunction with ALLETE's disclosures under the heading: "SAFE HARBOR STATEMENT UNDER THE PRIVATE SECURITIES LITIGATION REFORM ACT OF 1995" located on page 2 of this Form 8-K.
