Voce Capital: Questions for CONMED'S Curt Hartman

Shareholders Demand Answers

SAN FRANCISCO--(Business Wire)--Voce Capital Management LLC ("Voce"), which is seeking to elect three independent directors to the Board of CONMED Corporation ("ConMed" or the "Company") (Nasdaq:CNMD) at the Company's delayed annual meeting on September 10, 2014, today poses a number of important questions to Curt Hartman, ConMed's "interim" CEO:

In the coming days, Voce and its nominees, James W. Green, CEO of Analogic, and Joshua H. Levine, CEO of Accuray, will be meeting with many of ConMed's largest investors. Voce is aware that ConMed and Mr. Hartman are doing the same, and so on behalf of shareholders Voce respectfully asks that Mr. Hartman answer the following questions, which are essential for shareholders to understand prior to casting their ballots:

1. After 22 years at Stryker Corporation, why were you passed over for the permanent CEO position in favor of a candidate who had been with the company for 18 months and why, after leaving Stryker nearly two years ago, did you fail to secure any other employment or public board seats before coming to ConMed?
2. In light of the ambivalence you have professed (at least publicly) about being ConMed's permanent CEO, the questions that have been raised about your qualifications for the job and the deterrent your perceived front-runner status may have on the Company's ability to attract the best candidates for the job, will you formally withdraw your name from consideration now so that the Company can focus on recruiting qualified external candidates?
3. Given the rich transaction multiples in the industry (2-3x sales and more) and ConMed's current net debt position, how will you be able to execute on your stated intention to drive top line growth through acquisitions without over-levering the balance sheet or diluting shareholders by issuing equity?
4. Given their extensive experience leading publicly traded medical device companies; their expertise in sales & marketing and new product development; and their stellar business and personal reputations, why are you so vehemently opposed to the appointment of Jim Green and Josh Levine to ConMed's Board, appointments which Voce has offered to accept in order to settle the proxy contest?

Voce reminds shareholders that Glass Lewis & Co. has recommended that shareholders vote on the WHITE proxy card for its highly qualified nominees James W. Green, the President and CEO, and a director, of Analogic Corporation (Nasdaq:ALOG); and Joshua H. Levine, the President and CEO, and a director, of Accuray (Nasdaq:ARAY). Both Messers. Green and Levine are completely independent from one another, from Voce and from the current ConMed Board. Voce's third nominee is J. Daniel Plants, Managing Partner of Voce and a former investment banking executive at Goldman Sachs and JPMorgan.
