Q: WHAT DO WE KNOW ABOUT HOW THE COMBINATION WILL WORK?

A: Already, several basic principles have been established for the integration:

- o Millennium's acetyls business will be fully integrated into Lyondell and Equistar, both commercially and operationally;
- o The Flavors & Fragrances business will be kept separate, as we will continue to evaluate options for the business;
- o TiO2 will be operated as a separate business with Baltimore headquarters, using local support staff to maintain its self-sufficiency; and,

- o Staff functions will be managed from Houston, maintaining a Baltimore presence where appropriate.

Q: WHAT IS THE INTEGRATION TEAM RESPONSIBLE FOR?

A: Over the next several months, the key deliverables for the Integration Team will be to:

- o Review both companies business processes to more fully understand the best ways for Millennium's businesses and functions to be a part of the Lyondell enterprise;
- o Recommend organizational design for the business integration;
- o Develop a transition/integration plan with specific actions, timetable and responsible party; and,
- o Identify any areas for short- or long-term synergy, whether staffing, outside services, work process improvements or other redundant costs.

In addition, the Team will ensure ongoing communications and updates are provided to both Lyondell and Millennium employees, in compliance with the established legal and regulatory boundaries and guided by the terms of the agreement between the two companies.

Q: CAN I START TALKING WITH MY COUNTERPART AT LYONDELL?

A: No. For the time being, all communications and interactions between the two companies are to be handled through and by the Integration Team members only, so please resist the temptation to make contacts at Lyondell. Until the transaction closes some time in the third quarter, we are required by law to avoid acting in any way like a single entity - Lyondell and Millennium are still two separate companies, and we need to keep our focus on running Millennium's businesses safely and effectively. The Integration Team will ensure ongoing communication and updates are provided to both Lyondell and Millennium employees, in compliance with the established legal and regulatory boundaries and guided by the terms of the agreement between the two companies.

Q: WHAT SHOULD I BE DOING RIGHT NOW IN RELATION TO THE TRANSACTION AND INTEGRATION?

A: Continue to focus on our businesses - working safely, producing products, selling to and serving customers, purchasing supplies and raw materials, paying bills, etc. accurately and professionally. No staffing action related to the business combination will take place at either company until the transaction closes, which we expect to occur some time in the third quarter.

Q: WHAT IF I HAVE OTHER QUESTIONS?

A: First, talk with your supervisor and let them know of your questions or concerns. Leaders have received basic information about the transaction, and are available to respond to your questions. Leadership is committed to sharing information with you about the transaction.

In addition, we have established a number of other mechanisms to facilitate communication throughout the Company including a special email box for integration-related questions, "Ask Millennium".
