On August 18, 2010, Phoenix Technologies Ltd. distributed a letter to its customers in the form below.

Dear [Customer]:

Thank you for your ongoing commitment to the success of Phoenix and for your partnership with Phoenix!

Yesterday we announced that a definitive merger agreement was signed between Phoenix and Marlin Equity Partners, a private equity firm based in Los Angeles with about $1 billion under management.

Marlin has an excellent track record for helping small companies grow and as a private company we expect to be able to deliver strong profits and to fund the key BIOS initiatives our teams need to execute together! As part of this, both Phoenix management and Marlin feel confident the strategy for refocusing on the core BIOS business is on the right track.

The transaction will take a few months to proceed through shareholder approval and we will keep you posted as we go through the process. In the meantime, we expect to have no changes in personnel or management and we remain more committed than ever to delivering excellent and leading BIOS technology solutions to the market!

I remain personally committed to making Phoenix a great vendor/partner and look forward to talking to you about our ideas and plans for our business together in the future.

Best Personal Regards,

Tom Lacey
