2. A brief description of the properties of claimant and each of its subsidiary public utility companies used for the generation, transmission, and distribution of electric energy for sale, or for the production, transmission, and distribution of natural or manufactured gas, indicating the location of principal generating plants, transmission lines, producing fields, gas manufacturing plants, and electric and gas distribution facilities, including all such properties which are outside the State in which claimant and its subsidiaries are organized and all transmission or pipelines which deliver or receive electric energy or gas at the borders of such State.

PNM Resources does not own directly any utility properties or perform any utility operations. PNM Resources operating subsidiary is PNM and is described in detail below.

PNM provides retail electric service to a large area of north central New Mexico, including the cities of Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Rio Rancho, Las Vegas, Belen and Bernalillo. PNM also provides retail electric service to Deming in southwestern New Mexico and to Clayton in northeastern New Mexico. As of December 31, 2003, PNM served approximately 401,608 retail electric customers, the largest of which accounted for approximately 8.1% of PNM's total retail electric revenues for the year ended December 31, 2003.

PNM owns or leases and operates facilities for the generation and transmission of electric energy. PNM's transmission facilities consist primarily of 345 kV, 230 kV and 115 kV transmission lines extending through much of the State of New Mexico. PNM also owns partial interests in certain 500 kV and 345 kV transmission lines in the State of Arizona. PNM owns or leases interests in electric generation plants representing a total PNM net generation capacity of 1,742 MW. The facilities comprising such interests in generation include: a nuclear plant, Palo Verde Nuclear Generating Station, located in Arizona; two coal-fired plants, San Juan Generating Station and Four Corners Power Plant, located in northwest New Mexico; two gas/oil-fired plants, Las Vegas, located in Las Vegas, New Mexico, and Reeves, located in Albuquerque, New Mexico; and two gas-fired peaking plants, Lordsburg Generating Station, in Lordsburg, New Mexico and Afton Generating Station, located near Las Cruces, New Mexico. PNM also has approximately 132 MW of additional unit contingent peaking capacity through a 20-year power purchase agreement with Delta-Person Limited Partnership, owner of a gas turbine generating unit near Albuquerque, New Mexico. In 2002, PNM entered into an agreement with FPL Energy, LLC (FPL) a subsidiary of FPL Group, Inc., to develop a 200 MW wind generation facility in New Mexico (the New Mexico Wind Energy Center or NMWE). PNM began receiving commercial power from the project in June 2003 under a contract with FPL to purchase all of the power output generated by the NMWE for 25 years. This brings PNM's total net generating capacity, consisting of both internal and external contracted capacity, to 2,074 MW.

In addition to generation capacity, PNM purchases power in the wholesale market. PNM has two power purchase agreements with Southwestern Public Service Company: a long-term power purchase agreement (which expires in May, 2011) under which PNM presently receives 150 MW of interruptible power, and an intermediate-term agreement (through December 2005) under which PNM receives 72 MW of firm power. PNM also has a long-term power purchase agreement (through June 2010) with Tri-State Generation and Transmission Association, Inc., under which PNM receives 50 MW of firm power. Additionally, PNM has 70 MW of contingent capacity it obtains from El Paso Electric Company (EPE) under a transmission-capacity-for-generation-capacity trade arrangement that runs through September 2004. Beginning in October 2004 and continuing through June 2005, the contingent capacity amount under the EPE trade arrangement will be reduced to 39 MW.

As of December 31, 2003, PNM owned, jointly owned or leased approximately 2,902 circuit miles of electric transmission lines, located in New Mexico and Arizona. Included in this total is approximately 165 miles of 500 kV transmission lines associated with PNM's interest in Palo Verde. PNM also owns approximately 4,292 miles of overhead distribution lines, 4,120 miles of underground distribution lines, and 240 energized and de-energized transformers within switching stations and substations, all located in New Mexico.

PNM distributes natural gas to most of the major communities in New Mexico, including Albuquerque and Santa Fe, and serves approximately 460,818 natural gas customers, as of December 31, 2003. The Albuquerque metropolitan area accounts for approximately 43% of the total sales-service customers. PNM obtains its supply of natural gas primarily from sources within New Mexico pursuant to contracts with producers and marketers. These contracts are generally sufficient to meet PNM's peak-day demand. PNM provides distribution service within certain cities that depend on El Paso Natural Gas Company or Transwestern Pipeline Company for transportation of the gas supplies. Because these cities are not directly connected to PNM transmission facilities, gas transported by these companies is the sole supply source for those cities.

PNM's natural gas properties, as of December 31, 2003, consisted primarily of natural gas storage, transmission and distribution systems. Provisions for storage made by PNM include ownership and operation of an underground storage facility located near Albuquerque, New Mexico. The transmission systems consisted of approximately 1,600 miles of pipe with appurtenant compression facilities. The distribution systems consisted of approximately 11,600 miles of pipe.
